

-Demons Within-

There is an old but curable disease
Let me describe it, if you would please

The symptoms cause you to live in sin
They call this disease the demons within

When demons within overtake your life
It causes turmoil and all types of strife

It all begins with lies and mistrust
And progresses to drugs, greed and lust

Then it proceeds to jealousy and hate
But there is a cure, there is no debate

The healing starts with a dose of prayer
And continues with love from those who care

It seems so simple, you say...is that all?
That the cure for something so big is so small
