

Life's Influences

When I was 8 years old my life changed and I felt as if I was to blame for my own shame.
I was pushed and shoved and felt unloved.
You may have had it bad, but I've had it worse. My own life is a curse. I've cried so much and I bleed till it hurts.

I'm holding on but I'm losing my grip.
I never thought it would be like this.

I see my flaws.
I don't know if what I do is wrong or right.

I beat myself up over it every night.
I cannot face the fact, I cannot take it back. What to do or where to go? I don't feel as if I'm in control anymore.

Almost out of time, here is my last line.

Keep the ones you love near and dear.
But don't keep them too close, because you might be the one who is hurt the most.
So raise your glass, enjoy time while it lasts.
Just sit back and relax, and let your mind be at peace, before you are deceased.

Dear Lord;
Thank you for giving me the courage, strength, wisdom and the support to make it through all the tough times in my life. I also want to thank you for mine and my brother's relationship. It has grown strong and for my friends that have been there for me and also for my family.
In Jesus name I pray, Amen.

Robert (son Lynne Andersen)

My precious child was just eight, when I really had no choice in his fate.
At a time when my life and mind were upside down and broken.
All the unspoken words that were never spoken.
I kept them unspoken out of fear.
And today as I sit with an empty purse, my heart fills with sadness.
We are born to love not to scorn, just remember at that time my heart was torn.
I stood alone with no defense.
Not able to speak.
Come to the Lord, feel His love wrap around you.
Your mother's love will never end.
I feel my mother's and grandmother's love to this day.
I will always be here for you.
Love.....from your mother.

"As a prisoner for the Lord, then, I urge you to live a life worthy of the calling you have received."

Ephesians 4:1

"Brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child. Children will rebel against their parents and have them put to death."

Mark 13:12

"Do not follow the crowd in doing wrong. When you give testimony in a lawsuit, do not pervert justice by siding with the crowd."

Exodus 23:2

Lynne Andersen